

Amber Morrow

Senior Manager of Community & Outreach

Amber Morrow began her career in the classroom, teaching science for 6 years, where she developed a passion for engaging students in meaningful ways and supporting their success. Building on that foundation, she transitioned into administrative roles, focusing on program management, student support, and community outreach. With a diverse background that includes both education and partnership development, Amber has worked extensively across Arizona, leveraging ASU's resources to build impactful collaborations that enhance learning opportunities for students and educators.

A proud Sun Devil alum and part of the ASU Prep team, Amber is dedicated to empowering educators and creating innovative pathways that drive student success. Her work continues to bridge sectors and inspire transformative outcomes in schools and communities statewide.
